An Opportunity To Discover ELAN

ELAN are offering FREE introductory training courses for home control for our industry leading automation and control solution. Training is part of our primary commitment to continuously supply excellent solutions to clients. This introduction course will provide a valuable insight into the ELAN Home Automation system and its award-winning user interfaces.

Starting at 9.15am, our interactive training will take you on the ELAN journey and will introduce you to the ELAN Product family and how to programme a system using the ELAN gTools Configuration software.

All delegates will be fed and watered throughout the day and we should finish up by 4.30pm.
